PAKISTANI GOVERNMENT VICTORY as public opinion turns against Taliban.

Pakistan's beleaguered government has managed to win unprecedented popular support for the army's offensive against Taliban fighters in the Swat Valley.

Both of the country's main political movements - the ruling Pakistan People's Party and the opposition Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz) have joined forces to support the operation. This display of unity was not only a response to Western pressure: the parties were also reflecting a crucial change in the popular mood. For the first time, the Taliban appear to be at the receiving end of a popular backlash.

"It feels as if the nation is at our back supporting us, morally and legally. As a soldier you feel great. Now everyone has realized the threat," said Colonel Abdul Rehman, an officer stationed in Swat.

OBAMA'S SPEECH TO THE MUSLIM WORLD.

Mr. Obama spoke forthrightly and frankly about one of the riskiest subjects in American politics: America's relations with the Muslim world. It was a speech painful at points; brutally honest at others; and strikingly redemptive in the end. A speech this fine deserves to be mulled over and reflected upon. That Mr. Obama chose to deliver it- while clearly aware of the political risks involved in doing so - is a testament to his courage and fortitude as a leader.

Q & A

Tell a Friend

Q: In the guide book it gives the steps for the "Symphonic Heart Healing". I'm confused because it says to complete them 3 times, then at the bottom it says to do them 2 more times. I believe in class we did them 3 times but this was confusing to me and I've been doing it 5 times, is this correct?

Margaret: No, that's not correct. The Symphonic Heart Healing is to be done 3 times only. I realize it is rather confusing in the book and I'm glad you brought this up. I'll make a correction and take "2 more times" out. I think this will make it much clearer.

Q: If we miss a couple day's healings on our project, can we just program some backwards in time? In other words just do one healing, and program it to happen for example 3 times?

DivinePeaceHealing

Margaret: The guides have let me know that we can't "program" DPH Healings. If you miss a couple days, for example, you can do the healings all in one day to catch up. But you can't do one healing and program it to happen, for example 3 times.

About Us

Q: I'm doing "Location" healings on my own home. I'm doing them often, so do I need to do the "clearing steps" each time, in other words the Imprints, Curses & Hexes, Mother Earth's pain and Souls taken to the light?

E-mail Us

Margaret: Yes, the guides have been specific about these steps. They should be done each time.

Q: I have a Genesa Crystal which generates a strong frequency of energy. If I hold this in my lap while I'm doing a DPH healing, does that mean I'm sending out a stronger frequency of energy during my healing? Would this be beneficial?

Guides: "Each person is different and unique and as such has a different and unique energy vibration. The strength of this energy vibration blends with the vibration of the shapes and colors of the symbols as you perform the healing.

Share Your

Experiences

Although each person will be sending out healing energy, this energy is unique to them. Anything that increases this energy vibration, such as the Genesa Crystal, simply blends with the symbols, and the energy that is sent out would be increased."

"You can see from what we have said, that yes, this would be very beneficial."

Q: When doing healings if we do several back to back, may we just do the cleansing part once at the end, instead of with each one?

Guides: "We will explain it this way. Remember when you are doing the healing you are actually connecting to whatever location/group you are healing. There is an actual energy connection. This is why we have added the cleansing after the healing has been completed. We feel it is in your best interest to cleanse each time for your own protection."
